

Loyola High Mothers Mark Centennial With Pageant

The Loyola High School Mothers' Club will sponsor the first of many celebrations of the centenary of the foundation of Loyola College when they present an historic pageant in Cohn Hall on January 25, 26 and 27. The pageant will have a cast of one hundred players who will be dressed in historically authentic period costumes.

The mothers of Loyola High School students will participate in the pageant, and also students from the high school and from Notre Dame of Maryland Preparatory School. The pageant will depict the seventy-one years that Loyola College and Loyola High School were united in the same building and the twenty-nine years that the high school and the college have been separated, with independent status.

Tableau Portrays Dance

Mrs. Edward Lanahan is chairman and Mrs. Novak is acting as professional director. Most of the scenes will be in tableau style and will portray Loyola's contribution to Baltimore of the past and the present. One scene depicts an old fashioned dance.

All the graduates of Loyola College and Loyola High School are invited to attend the pageant along with their families and friends. A large crowd is expected to turn out for this centennial celebration, and volunteer carpenters including two members of the freshmen class are now at work in Cohn Hall to make the necessary alterations for staging the spectacle. The stage is being equipped with a "picture frame" inner stage on a platform that is curtained off from the outer stage.

Celebrities Invited

Among the guests of honor personally invited are The Most Reverend Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, Senator Herbert R. O'Connor, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, and Mayor Thomas A. D'Alesandro.

The centennial pageant has been in rehearsal since November, and the cast has met three times weekly since then to plan the tableaux and rehearse the action. Each member of the pageant has personally paid for his or her own costume.

The show will be presented on the nights of January 25, 26 and 27 at 8:30 p.m. On the afternoon of Sunday, January 27, there will also be a special matinee for the nuns of the archdiocese. Admission will be one dollar per person.

Burke Captures Frosh Election

The permanent officers of the Freshman class were elected in the last week of classes before the Christmas holidays. William Burke was chosen president, Frederick Buchness, vice president; Maurice Bozel, secretary; Joseph di Santis, treasurer.

These officers replace the temporary board chosen in September. The election was policed by members of the student council.

The winning ticket advocated as its platform more cordial relations among the members of the class, many of whom in the opinion of the officers are "still not mutually acquainted."

Burke, the new president was a class officer at Loyola High School in his first three years and senior class president. Buchness was also a class officer at Loyola High and was a member of the varsity football squad.

Bozel is a former student of St. Charles College, where he was class president for four years. He is an active member of St. Dominic's C. S. M. C. unit.

Di Santis was a teammate of Buchness on the Loyola High grid squad last year. He was a letter man on the college cross country team this fall. He is also president of the St. Dominic's parish C. S. M. C.

One of the first projects of the freshman class is their joint sponsorship of the annual Soph-Frosh Dance. The music will be furnished by Baden Ridenour's orchestra, which consists of ten peices and a vocalist. The dance, to be held in Cohn Hall, will be strictly limited to members of the two sponsoring classes.

TB Prevention Group To Offer Chest X-Rays

The Baltimore City Health Dept., assisted by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, will conduct a chest X-ray survey at Evergreen on February 6, 7, 8 in the gymnasium. There will be no charge to the students for this service.

Mr. Paul H. Neff, director of Case Findings, strongly urges all students to take advantage of this opportunity. According to figures issued by the Association, Maryland has the fifth highest TB death rate in the United States, and Baltimore has the highest TB death rate among cities with 100,000 population or more. In 1950 there were 536 deaths in this city from tuberculosis.

According to a release from the Association, a person can have tuberculosis without knowing it, and without looking or feeling as if he has it. When it first strikes, it seldom makes itself known with obvious symptoms. Hence, a person unaware that he is ill with tuberculosis will unwittingly allow his illness to progress until apparent symptoms cause him to visit his doctor. These outward symptoms rarely appear before the disease has reached an advanced stage—when tuberculosis is difficult to cure.

The chest X-ray can detect the disease in its early stage when the chances of cure are best. The whole procedure will take only a few minutes.

The following is the schedule for X-ray:

Feb. 6—1:00—5:00 p. m.
Feb. 7—9:00—12 noon
1:00—3:00 p. m.
Feb. 8—9:00—12 noon

Debaters Enter JHU Tourney

The Robert Bellarmine Debating Society will participate in the annual tournament for debaters at Johns Hopkins University on February 1 and 2. The Loyola team is composed of John Seal and Gayle Phillips. Francis Kiehne has been appointed one of the judges. Last year, Loyola was second in the tournament. Some other colleges that have indicated their intention to participate are Notre Dame of Maryland, Fordham and West Point.

Besides the Hopkins tournament, the President, Joseph Blair has announced many other inter-collegiate contests. The first debate of the second term will be held at Loyola on January 31 against Canisius College of Buffalo. Richard Otenasek and Francis Stafford will represent Loyola. Another debate against Canisius on February 3 has also been scheduled at Evergreen.

On February 8 the Georgetown School of Foreign Service will send a team to Loyola to discuss the national topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a permanent program of price and wage controls." Following this, the debaters from Loyola will journey to Washington, D. C. to oppose NSA DELEGATES JEREMIAH MURNANE AND LAWRENCE RODOWSKY examine a contract made with a local merchant which will allow Loyola students to purchase goods at a discount. Students will be able to buy special discount cards at the book store.

NSA Delegates Planning Student Buying Discount

A discount plan has been established for Loyola students in co-operation with merchants in the Govans area under a service of the National Student Association. The program has been set up by a committee headed by Lawrence F. Rodowsky, NSA delegate, aided by Jeremiah Murnane, Maurice Reeder and Charles Broomfield, in conjunction with the NSA committee of Notre Dame of Maryland.

This service is a nation wide project promoted by the Association in an effort to reduce the cost of living for students. Merchants contract to grant a discount on items of general student use to qualified holders of an NSA purchase card.

The identification cards which are good for one year will go on sale at Loyola after the examinations at a cost of twenty-five cents. Each student can easily regain this small fee with his first substantial purchase. All proceeds will go into the College NSA fund.

Stores which have signed contracts cover such items as clothing, haircuts, records, jewelry, flowers, motor oil and fuel, cleaning and pressing service, photography, food, gifts and religious articles. Each student will receive a list of the locations of the stores and the discounts offered with the purchase of his card. The reductions range from ten to twenty percent.

Evening School Courses Listed

Loyola Evening College will offer 93 courses of study during the Spring Term, February 2 to May 24, announces the Reverend Father Arthur A. North, S. J., Dean.

Spread over Mondays through Thursdays, 6:30 to 10:05 P. M., and Saturdays, 8:45 A. M. to 2:35 P. M., the courses, according to their levels, may be taken for credit toward the degree of Bachelor of Science, Master of Arts in Education, or the newly instituted degree of Master of Education.

Special combinations may be pursued for certificate programs, and many of the courses may be taken singly for self-improvement, says Father North. Registration is open now and through February 2, at the office of the Dean, 4501 North Charles Street. The College reserves the right to limit the number admitted to any one course, and to cancel any course for which there is not sufficient enrollment.

Departments represented in the offerings, says Father North, are as follows: accounting and business administration, economics, education, law, journalism and English, history and political science, insurance, mathematics, psychology, sociology, speech, science, and theology. Two graduate courses in education have been added to the evening schedule; and succession courses are being offered for the certificate program in delinquency control which, according to Father North, attracted many students during the Fall Term now ending.

Quarterly Articles Due

The editors of the Evergreen Quarterly have announced that the third issue of the literary magazine will appear on March 7. Deadline for submitting manuscripts for that issue is February 4. The staff is especially interested in receiving the work of those who have not yet written for the quarterly. Manuscripts may be left in the box on the door of THE GREYHOUND office.

Glee Club Sets Plans

During the second semester the Glee Club is planning a series of appearances before the assemblies of the various girls' colleges in the state. This program will be designed to include a choral salutation, a few sea chanteys, excerpts from Romberg and Carlsen, Negro Spirituals, and a selection from Carousel, "You'll Never Walk Alone."

In May, the annual spring concert and dance will be held. Plans are now being arranged for this affair.

The Rev. Michael F. Maher, S. J., club moderator, has made an appeal to the under classmen to join the society. Rehearsals are held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays in Cohn auditorium at twelve noon. Anyone interested should contact either Father Maher or Mr. Felice Iula.

On December 16, the Glee Club made its third appearance for the annual Christmas recital. Previous to this, the club appeared at the dedication of Cohn auditorium and Loyola Night.

Georgetown and American University on February 12. In the latter part of the month Loyola will debate Gettysburg and Mt. St. Mary's.

Most of the first semester was devoted to intra-society debates in order to gain the needed experience and proficiency in the topic. However, some inter-collegiate debates were held. On December 4, Maurice Sullivan, Francis Pugh, Richard Otenasek and Francis Stafford traveled to Washington to oppose Howard University and Catholic University.

Immediately previous to the Christmas recess, John Fitzpatrick and Gayle Phillips gained a unanimous decision over Johns Hopkins University. The debate was held before a student assembly at Towson High School. The purpose of the debate was to give the students of the High School a general idea of debating style and methods.

Dramatic Society Plans Inter-Class Competition

The Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society of Loyola College will sponsor an inter-class competition of one-act plays at the end of February. The winning class will be chosen by judges selected from the faculty on the basis of excellence in production, direction, lighting, acting and other phases of the art of dramatics.

According to the Rev. Michael F. Maher, S. J., club moderator, the purpose of this presentation is to increase the interest of the underclassmen in the Dramatic Society. Fr. Maher said, "Upon examining the list of experienced members of the Mask and Rapier Society, we have found that the underclassmen are not represented in any great numbers. In order to assure continuity in the club's presentations of plays, it is important that freshmen, sophomores and juniors get some experience in acting, directing, producing and other phases of dramatics. The one-act play contests is designed to stimulate interest in the society among underclassmen and to provide replacements for the present seniors who have done so well in the past few years."

Eta Sigma Phi To Admit Eight Under-Classmen

The Latin honor society, Eta Sigma Phi, will admit new members after the mid-semester examination. The meeting to decide on these prospective candidates will be held February 1. At the previous meeting the fraternity drew up and ratified its constitution.

These new members must maintain a B average. At present, there are eight students in the society, leaving seven vacancies to be filled to reach the quota of fifteen members stipulated by the constitution.

Candidates will be drawn from the sophomore, junior and senior classes. In addition to maintaining the required scholastic average, the candidates must be approved by vote of members of the society. The number of votes required to admit a petitioner will be commensurate with his respective average. For instance, a three-fourths vote is required for an average between eighty and eighty-five. Future candidates will be chosen to replace vacancies caused by graduation. Senior Leroy Wagner is president of the Latin fraternity.

Vergil was the topic discussed by Melvin Cohen at the most recent lecture-discussion session of the Classics Academy. Previous to this, Carroll F. Conway spoke on the cultural aspects of the Republican era in Rome. All interested in Classic antiquity are invited to attend the bi-weekly lectures held on Tuesdays at 3 p. m.

A sub-committee of the Classics Academy, the Vergilian Circle, has been reading excerpts from the Aeneid for the past year. Dr. John V. Walsh is directing the group. In May of 1952 a public performance and Actus Vergilianus will be staged. The latter will consist of two papers on the political and spiritual significance and aspects of the Aeneid. The members are Melvin Cohen, Carroll Conway, Francis Serio, Harry Hock and John Farrell. John McGrain is chairman of the group.

Historians Hold Seminar

The John Gilmary Shea History Academy held its first meeting for 1952 last night at which Renaissance Italy was the general topic for discussion. The Academy decided at the beginning of the year to discuss three subjects on American history to every one subject of foreign history. This plan has not been followed too closely, however, due to the wide interest in foreign affairs which the members expressed by choosing such topics as Turkey, Iran and Egypt, all of which have played a very prominent part in recent developments in world affairs. The discussion of such topics gives the members historical background and sometimes helps to explain the feelings of foreign peoples.

Membership is not closed and all who share a sincere interest in history will be welcomed.

Seniors Arrange Plans For Prom, Future Events

Anthony Spartana, president of the senior class, has announced that the arrangements for the many events of the Centennial Graduating Program are nearing completion. All committees are reported to be progressing according to schedule.

Saturday, April 19th has been set as the date for the senior prom featuring the music of Brayden Ridenour and his orchestra. The strictly formal cabaret-style dance has been brought back to the Loyola Campus for the Centennial Celebration by popular demand.

The committee in charge of the favors promises a "Centennial Surprise" and lavish decorations have been planned by the decorating committee including many floral arrangements, as well as just the right amount of suitable "atmosphere."

No price has yet been set, pending adjustment of expenses, but a reasonable one is forthcoming and to further ease the purse-pressure, an installment plan payment is being drawn up. The dance will be restricted to members of the '52 Graduating Class.

Highlighting the evening will be the traditional promenade led by Spartana. The members of the prom committee include Michael W. Ganzhorn, Thomas F. Haupt, Joseph B. Herron, Wilfred F. Holdefer, Francis X. Kaspar, Edward A. Pula and James T. Smith.

Plans are likewise in progress for the senior class banquet tentatively scheduled for the Park Plaza. The exact date and announcement of the guest speaker will be made at a later date.

The graduation dance, a highlight of the Senior Week Program, will be held on Friday, June 6th. The location has not yet been determined, but the Country Club of Maryland is under consideration. It will, however be held off-campus.

Work on the senior yearbook is progressing, with senior writeups receiving special attention of the staff. The drive for advertisements ended last Monday.

The Historical Background of Ballet . . .

Vertical movement as well as mere geometric patterns was now possible.

France was the leader in ballet down to the Revolution but then the leadership passed to Italy. It was here that the rigorous standards in ballet training were introduced. Russia now entered the picture. Peter the Great is credited with having introduced the ballet to Russia as a part of his "Westernization" program, and by the nineteenth century ballet in Russia had reached seeming perfection both technically and artistically. There were two factors responsible for this expansion and growth; first, many nobles formed a ballet company for their own amusement from among their own serfs, and secondly, the Russian was a natural born dancer. The technical aspect was becoming more and more emphasized, much to the detriment of the artistic until one man, Draghilev, the genius and leader of ballet in Russia took over and succeeded in giving it the vitality and the spirit which characterizes the ballet-russe of today.

The role of England in this history has been a passive one. While always receptive to the ballet, she did not develop one of her own until fairly recent times, but now the ballet is almost as well established in England as in America and Russia.

This brief attempt to give some of the historical background of ballet is of necessity very condensed. Many fine books on the subject are available for anyone interested in a more detailed and orderly history. In the next issue I'll give some of the aesthetic background, the "stuff" of ballet. So long until then.

Management Club Hears Tracey

Mr. William Tracey, employment manager of The Western Electric Corporation, addressed the members of the Industrial Management Club at a recent meeting. Mr. Tracey spoke on all facets of Personnel and Employment Management. The meeting was attended by approximately fifty students of the Business Department. About half of those attending were members of the club.

The program committee, headed by Francis X. Kaspar, have tentatively planned an address by one of the staff of Dun and Bradstreet for sometime in February. The talk will be accompanied by a sound film on Credit. Also planned for the period during the Easter vacation are visits to industrial plants around the city. Crown Cork and Seal has been selected as one of the first concerns on the club agenda.

The Management Club is composed of juniors and seniors from the Department of Business Administration. Meetings are held on the first and third Monday of every month. Mr. Henry Hergenroeder is club moderator. Charles Connolly is president of the group.

Juniors Lay Plans For '53 Yearbook

Initial preparations have been made for the publishing of the 1952-53 Evergreen Annual, it was announced last week by James P. Garland, Junior Class President.

Neil Hickey has been named editor-in-chief of the publication. Other staff appointments to date include George Thomas, business manager; Vincent Leahy, managing editor; John Fitzpatrick, sports editor; and Carroll Conway, photography editor. Efforts will be made to complete the staff early in the second semester so that work may be assigned as soon as possible.

General Hershey Explains Present Draft Situation

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, recently announced that Selective Service will not make any special provisions to give students 30 days after the end of their academic year to enlist in the service of their choice. General Hershey explained that such arrangements are not necessary this year as the 1951 amendments to the Selective Service law provides that students are henceforth to be deferred instead of having their induction postponed. They will, therefore, have ample opportunity after the completion of their academic year to enlist in the service of their choice.

The 1951 amendments to the Selective Service of 1948 provided that any student pursuing a full-time course who was ordered for induction would, if he had never before been deferred as a student, be deferred in Class I-S until the end of his academic year, but he could receive only one such deferment. A student who is entitled to a statutory I-S deferment must be ordered for induction before he can be deferred by his local board. The law says that he shall be deferred "upon presenting the facts" that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued.

A student who is ordered for induction should not be thrown into a panic, General Hershey explained, all that is necessary is for him to request the Dean or Registrar to immediately give his local board official notice that he is a full-time student doing satisfactory work and that such work actually commenced prior to the date the order for induction was mailed. Students may be placed in a II-S classification, General Hershey explained, at the discretion of their local boards.

To assist the boards in determining which students should be given II-S deferments, a method was set up whereby students who are in the prescribed upper portion of their class or who made a score of 70 or better on the Selective Service College Qualification Test may be considered by their local board for deferment. The law provides, however, that local boards are not required to defer men who meet one or both of the criteria. This is still discretionary on the part of the Board.

Students who meet one or both of the criteria for II-S deferment have a right of appeal if their local board does not defer them. The law provides that a student may appeal to the State Appeal Board within 10 days from the date the local board mails the notice that they have placed him in Class I-A.

The II-S deferment is considered on the basis of class standing or qualification test and is discretionary on the part of the local board. It may be granted by the local board each successive year, thus enabling students who meet the criteria to complete their education. The I-S deferment on the other hand is a "one-shot" proposition designed only to allow those students who do not have eligibility for consideration for II-S deferments, and who have never before received a student deferment or postponement

Blood Donations

A word of congratulation is due to those students who donated their blood in the recent Red Cross drive. There may be an occasion in the future — although we hope not — when the importance of these donations will be appreciated. But for the Grace of God, we might be in Korea instead of in school, and a pint of blood is one way of showing our appreciation to those boys who are giving so much.

There has been some talk around the campus that 83 donors was not a good representation for a school of over 500 students. However a few facts must be considered before any judgment can be made. The reason why there were no more donations is simply because there was no more time. At four o'clock, the workers refused to accept any more volunteers, even though there was still a line of Loyola men waiting to give their blood. It must also be realized that the announcement of the plasma drive was not made at Loyola until the day before the donations were taken, and that the blood unit was not set up on campus but rather at a neighboring college.

School Spirit Commission

What has become of the School Spirit Commission? Where are the questionnaires which were going to be distributed last November, quizzing the students on the lack of interest in school activities? This is the group that had as its purpose the promotion of more interest in student activities and the various extra-curricular programs, yet the members of this Commission seem to be guilty of the very things that they were to cure among the student body, namely, procrastination and indifference.

The Critolog

by Malcolm S. Rose

It is regrettable, but Bob Hope falls below his standard of fine comedy in his latest, My Favorite Spy. However, it is not so much through his lack of ability that this unfortunate thing happens; it is rather that his writers took a protracted holiday.

Another drawback is the so-called acting of Hedy Lamar. Arnold Moss adds some compensation in a workmanlike performance as a government agent helping Mr. Hope barter secrets in Egypt. The plot could have been made into a good contrasting serious background for the comic antics of Bob, yet Paramount took a breather in this international cops-and-robbers sideshow.

Probably the outstanding comedy show on radio for the intelligentia is The Halls of Ivy (8:00 P. M., Wednesday, NBC). Ronald and Benita Coleman provide sparkle as a husband-wife team. Unlike insipid shows built around a professional, married couple, this program sneaks in serious messages in an unpedantic manner.

Ronnie, as prexy of a mythical university, gives forth with pungent epigrams. His better half provides a protagonistic role of translating some of his sophisms for audience comprehension. The situations are adroitly contrived, and this radio show is an ample excuse for a student's half-hour break in his home studying.

The film capital goes from one extreme to the other in its latest ambition of putting forth war pictures. In some of the most amateurish, humanity is stripped from the soldier-thespians, and the average vet of overseas campaigning hesitates to patronize the theatre.

Yet, in such works as Go For Broke and Red Badge of Courage, Hollywood shows how high calibre it can be. The latter is a fine example how the above-noted humanity is the whole core of a war epic, the skirmishing secondary, or at best—externalization of inner realities.

Go For Broke clearly exhibits the new phases of modern warfare; id

An Answer To Mr. Azrael

Dear Sir:

This may be an apologia but it is not an apology. We want you to know that we still think hillbillies are a menace to culture, health and morals. This does not mean, as Mr. Louis Azrael would like to imply, that we are an advocate of mass deportation or genocide, or any other form of fascist purification of the racial stock. Such practices have been considered immoral in this nation since the last Indian laid down his carbine, and in our opinion, they were immoral long before that. Neither does this mean that Loyola is a seed bed of un-Americanism.

We have no hard feelings against Mr. Azrael, but in view of the fact that our article saved him the bother of writing two-thirds of his column, he could have been less virulent in his criticism. However he accuses us of making jokes at the expense of other people's feelings, and many well meaning Catholics have written in to agree with him. We would like to ask him why his paper doesn't stop making fun of President Truman with its insulting caricatures on the editorial page. The News-Post also makes tun of the Irish in "Bringing Up Father;" and incidentally, what part of the population is satirized in "Barney Google and Snuffy Smith?"

Humor must always originate in human actions that to us seem incongruous; or else the humor rises from an incongruous description of human persons or action. True humor never implies hatred; certainly George McManus does not hate Jiggs. Neither does good satire spring from personal hatred; on the contrary, satire is a device to show what is wrong with the world in an entertaining way. Satire, beneath all its foolishness, suggests that a repair job on some aspect of society might be in order. Lynch mobs and gas chambers could never be considered social reform.

We received several letters about this stale controversy; those that returned evil for evil, we ignore. One calls our feature "Catholic pro-

The Historical Background Of Ballet

"Ballet is a modern art, dancing is prehistoric. The history of ballet is but a fragment of the history of dancing." This is the view of Arnold Haskell who in his historical survey of the development of ballet assigns its origin to Catherine de Medici in the sixteenth century. Other critics hold this view entirely false and regard ballet as having evolved along with all the other activities of man from antiquity. One of the leaders of this latter school is George Borodin. To him ballet is simply dancing with a conscious expressive purpose, or in his formal definition, "The expression of emotion, experience or beauty through the equal cooperation of plastic movement of live performers and music." Borodin traces a close parallel between the ritual dances of primitive peoples and modern ballet. When these two elements, a dance representing some sort of action, such as those of a hunted animal and a hunter, and some sort of rhythmical accompaniment had developed, ballet even though extremely crude had begun. The art of later civilizations plainly testifies to the existence and importance of the ritual dance. The coming of Christianity gradually transformed these ritual dances into folk dances. Ceremonial dancing was introduced into the courts in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries and paved the way for the orderly development of ballet.

This brings us back to Catherine de Medici and from here on in, the story of ballet is one of historical record. The dance developed rapidly in France between the sixteenth and eighteenth centuries. Louis XIV gave it a tremendous impetus when in 1661 he founded the French Royal Academy of Dancing. Under Louis XV the ballet became more stylized and artificial as indeed did all the other arts. During this period the great ballerina Marie Carmargo shocked the public but greatly helped ballet when she shortened the floor-length dresses of the ballerinas by several inches.

BSquadFive Loses Three Out of Four

by Joe Manz

Coach Lefty Reitz's "B" squad has been able to win only one of their four games to date and their record stands at one win and three losses. After defeating the Red Shield Boys Club by a 56-49 score in their opening game on December 7, the team dropped its next three encounters. They hope to break their three game losing streak when they meet Mount Saint Mary's "B" squad on January 15.

Freshman Ted Venetoulis led the Hounds to their opening game victory by scoring 7 points. Close behind were Joe Judge, Bob Parent, and Joe Nelson with 6 points each. Against Georgetown on December 12 the Loyola cagers were routed by a margin of 27 points, 82-55. The team was able to convert only 13 of 32 foul shots. Joe Nelson and Joe Judge led the Loyola scoring with 14 and 11 points respectively.

In their final game before the holidays the "B" squad bowed to the Baltimore U. "B" team by a score of 54-47. Loyola led by 27-21 at the half but the Bees rallied in the second half to give the team its second setback. Center Ted Markiewicz and forward Laddie O'Tell led Loyola with 11 and 10 points respectively.

The Dons from Loyola high defeated the "B" team on January 5 by a score of 51-37. Ted Venetoulis and Ted Markiewicz led the "B" cagers with 10 points each. Buddy Orendorff was high scorer for the night with 17 points.

Coach Reitz has not picked a definite starting lineup as yet but is still experimenting with the squad in order to try to find a winning combination. Guards Joe Nelson and Ted Venetoulis are leading the team in scoring with 29 points each for an average of about 7 points per game. Forward Joe Judge, Center Ted Markiewicz, and Forward Laddie O'Tell are next in the scoring with 27, 26, and 25 points respectively. Bill Sturm has scored 19 points to rank sixth in the scoring.

Mermen Beat Catholic U. For First League Victory

by Bernie Haske

Coming along in fine fashion the Loyola swimming team defeated Catholic U. 61-23. It was their second straight win and their first Mason-Dixon conference win.

The Greyhounds won every event with Jerry Rooney leading the way with wins in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle and 400 yard relay. To add gloom to Coach Bill Klarner's swimming outlook however, is the fact that Jerry must report to active duty in the Navy next month.

Other outstanding performers for the Green and Grey squad included Lou McComas, Bob Bollinger and Bruce Healy, all double winners. Among the other first place swimmers were Pete Bamberger, 440 yard freestyle winner, and Loyola's freestyle team of Harmon, Gross, Bollinger and Rooney, and the medley team of Muth, Healy and Thomas.

The Evergreen's diving pair of Tom McCormick and Tom Volatile pulled down a one-two in that order in the one meter diving event. These wins, along with second places by Donegan and Leonard, accounted for Loyola's 61 point total.

With these two successive wins Loyola's nators look to a hard meet next Saturday at LaSalle College.

Grapplers Swamp Towson Squad In Conference Opener, 24-6

by Jack Seal

Snapping back from their previous loss to Maryland, the Loyola wrestling team won a decisive 24-6 victory over a visiting Towson State aggregation. The Hounds showed good conditioning and spirit and outclassed the Teachers badly, winning six out of eight matches.

Mike Ford led off the Loyola victory parade as he defeated the Towson captain, Jim Montgomery in the 123 lb. match. This was followed by Paul Burke's pin of William Martel in the 130 lb. class to give the Hounds an early 8-0 lead.

Then Capt. Ted Haupt lost a tough match to the Teachers blind ace, Gene Spurrier by a 8-2 margin. Dave Jacobsen also went down to defeat in the 147 lb. division for the Hounds final loss of the afternoon.

Jack Cyphers, Jim Garland, and Jack Pfeiffer all came through with wins in their respective classes, Cyphers and Pfeiffer by falls. Big Ned Callahan, Loyola's ponderous heavyweight, took a 9-4 decision from his game but outclassed rival, John Baummer.

The summary:

123 lb. M. Ford, Loyola defeated J. Montgomery, 8-2.

Loyola Cagers Top B.U. For First M-D Win

With three men hitting double figures, the varsity cage squad copped their first Mason-Dixon contest of the season when they defeated Baltimore U. December 15 in Alumni Gymnasium. Ben Cook, Nap Doherty, and Charley McCullough all hit for 11 points to lead the Green and Grey offense to a 59-46 win.

Doherty led the way in the second quarter as the Hounds pulled away to a 27-22 half time after being tied with the Bees 11-11 at the end of the first ten minutes of play. Then in the third stanza the Evergreen squad got hot, and ran the score to 45-32 as Joel Hittleman and McCullough garnered 4 and 5 points respectively to lead the attack. Como was high for Baltimore with 14 points.

Hound Mermen Thump Dickinson In Opener

The Greyhound swimming team opened its season on January 5th, with an easy win against Dickinson College. The Loyola squad fashioned a 53-31 win in Dickinson's pool at Carlisle, Pa.

With wins in all but one event the Mason Dixon defending champions were lead by Pete Bamberger in their point seeking efforts. Pete placed first in the 440 freestyle and second in the 150 yard individual medley for a total of 8 points.

Get Good Start

The Green and Grey team, a well balanced squad of veterans, spotted with newcomers, jumped off to a good start with a win in the 300 yard medley Relay. Lou McComas, Bruce Healy and Bill Gross, all veteran swimmers, were the winning combination in this event.

Loyola ran rampant in its point seeking spree with wins in the 220 freestyle, 50 yard freestyle and 150 individual medley with Bollinger, Rooney and Muth taking these respective events.

With a very impressive lead chalked up the Evergreen tankmen continued on their easy road of victory with firsts by Buck Leonard, Lou McComas and Bruce Healy in the 100 yard freestyle, 200 yard backstroke and 200 yard breaststroke. Among this trio Loyola natators boast Lou McComas Mason Dixon record setter of last year in both the backstroke and individual medley events.

The meet was then concluded with a win and a loss in the 400 yard freestyle and the 400 yard freestyle relay.

300-Yard Medley Relay—Won by Loyola (McComas, Healy, Gross); second, Dickinson (Mackey, Reens, Theopolis). Time, 3:30.4.

220 Freestyle—Won by Bollinger, Loyola; second, Cassen, Dickinson; third, Donegan, Loyola. Time, 2:31.4.

50-Yard Freestyle—Won by Rooney, Loyola; second, Thomas, Loyola; third, Speer, Dickinson. Time, 1:25.8.

150-Yard Individual Medley—Won by Muth, Loyola; second, Bamberger, Loyola; third, Weiss, Dickinson. Time, 1:55.4.

One-Meter Diving—Won by McCormick, Loyola; second, Small, Dickinson; third, Volatile, Loyola. Points, 65.2.

100-Yard Freestyle—Won by Leonard, Loyola; second, Cassen, Dickinson; third, Speer, Dickinson. Time, 1m. 9s.

200-Yard Backstroke—Won by McComas, Loyola; second, Mackey, Dickinson; third, Weiss, Dickinson. Time, 2:35.9.

200-Yard Breaststroke — Won by Healy, Loyola; second, Reens, Dickinson; third, Hughes, Dickinson. Time, 3:03.6.

440-Yard Freestyle—Won by Bamberger, Loyola; second, Cassen, Dickinson; third, Smith, Dickinson. Time, 5:38.4.

400-Yard Freestyle Relay—Won by Dickinson (Kress, Speer, Culver, Cassen); second, Loyola (Thomas, Volatile, Donegan, Muth). Time, 4:37.4.

GYM JOTTINGS

Jerry Chadwick has the rather dubious honor of leading the varsity cagers in personal fouls committed. . . Bill Klarner, swimming mentor, has been particularly pleased by the improvement Pete Bamberger, 440 yd. freestyler, has shown this year. . . Bish Baker is contemplating moving Tommy Wagner back to attack this spring. He ran at midfield for the lacrossers last year.

Our hat is off to Ned Callahan, who has very capably stepped into the vacated heavyweight spot on the wrestling squad. We really have to give this 6'4", 235 lb. giant a lot of credit for the way he picked up soccer this fall to help the pitch squad, and now for the manner in which he is grappling and showing great promise for future years.

Ed Kowalewski, who hurt his knee in the St. Francis game, is now completely recovered from the injury. . . Tennis captain Talbot Cockey, has started daily workouts in the gym in an effort to trim some weight from his 200 lb. frame before the season starts. . . It is becoming increasingly obvious that the Sophomore class is the one with the most spirit at school.

Lefty Reitz, when he was lecturing his cagers the other day, told them that when working their circle offense against a zone he wanted them to keep moving "even if they had to run up into the stands.

Maybe your man will be stupid enough to follow you", he concluded.

The contract for the basketball game with Morgan College on February 12 has been signed. . . Bob Anderson, ex-Hound cage great, is now playing pro basketball with Bridgeport of the American League. . . The wrestlers apparently have decided to take their sport a little more seriously after being annihilated 30-0 by Maryland.

Give Joe Lacy another year, and there is a good possibility that he will be as good a set shot as his brother Jim was. However, being four inches shorter, it stands to reason that he is going to have more trouble getting the shot off. Incidentally, Jim is going to broadcast the game with Seton Hall tonight over Radio Station WITH.

Charley McCullough's 15 point effort against the Washington College Shoremen was his best effort to date. . . The swimmers did not lose an event in trouncing their Catholic U. opponents. . . Jerry Chadwick is really in the running for the role of clown on the varsity cage squad. . . Nap Doherty has one of the best one-hand push shots ever seen in the M-D Conference.

Hounds Face Seton Hall Five Tonight

CHARLEY McCULLOUGH goes high to tally against Iona as the Hounds went down to defeat 60-48. Schneider and Metz are other Loyola players in picture.

Iona Rallies In Second Half To Trounce Cagers

The Loyola quintet suffered its fifth setback of the young season at the hands of Iona College of New Rochelle, N. Y., by a score of 60-48. The Catholic League contest was played at the Evergreen Gym on January 5.

The Hounds jumped to an early 2-1 lead during the opening minutes of the contest and paced by Nap Doherty, Jerry Chadwick, and Joel Hittleman managed to increase their lead throughout the initial half.

Slow First Period

Starting slowly during the first period, the game picked up in tempo during the following period as the Green five began to find the range. Loyola opened up a 24-14 lead with six minutes left in the half, but Iona came surging back to pull within two points of their opponents at half time, 30-28.

However, the second half proved to be an entirely different story. The Gael quintet, paced by Richard Guerin, blew the game wide open. Guerin, who was compelled to sit out most of the initial half due to three quick personals, took over the pivot slot and proceeded to ripple the cords for 12 points, faking beautifully as he eluded his opponents.

Home Five Falters

Meanwhile, the home five had completely lost the flashy form which they had displayed earlier in the contest, and they were unable to find the range. Charley McCullough was the only Greyhound able to pump the ball into the webbing with any degree of consistency, but the 6' 7" freshman's efforts were too late as the Gael five scored 18 points while holding Loyola to 6 in the third quarter. The fourth stanza was much the same story as Iona proceeded to hold on to the ball and the Green squad tried desperately to get back into the ball game.

Quintet Trips Morris-Harvey By 67-59 Score

Led by Nap Doherty's twenty point scoring effort, the Greyhounds opened their home basketball season on December 7 by downing Morris-Harvey by a 67-59 score. Doherty, who was held to five points in the opening half, hit on one-hand push shots from around the foul circle in the second half to pace the Loyola cagers to their second victory.

The game started slowly and at the half, the Hounds led by only 21-20, in what loomed as a low scoring battle. Both teams were missing the range on their shots and were passing wildly.

However, in the third quarter, the Hounds netted twenty-four points as Doherty and Ed Kowalewski led Loyola to a 45-35 advantage over their Charleston, West Virginia rivals at the end of the period. The superior height advantage of the Green and Gray cagers enabled the Hounds to control both backboards throughout the contest.

Fray Begins At 8:45 P.M. Tonight

This evening, Seton Hall will pay their bi-annual visit to the Evergreen gymnasium. The Pirates from South Orange, New Jersey, under Coach Honey Russel, are currently enjoying their best year since the 1939-40 season when they copped 19 consecutive wins without a setback.

At this writing, Seton Hall had registered 12 straight triumphs, before falling victims to Siena last Saturday night by a 55-52 score. The Pirates are also scheduled to meet Eastern Kentucky before tonight's battle.

Dukes Is "Big-Gun"

The "big-gun" for the visitors is the 6' 11" junior center Walter Dukes. Last year, Walter tallied 404 points to pace the Orangemen and lead them to the N.I.T. tourney at Madison Square Garden. Although he only tips the scale at 215 lbs., the "stringbean" center has proven himself quite capable under the boards.

Dukes is also very fast for his size and holds down a berth on the Orangemen's famed track team. He is currently averaging approximately 20 points per game and seems destined to join Frank "Pep" Saul in Seton Hall's select 1000 club.

Reagan Playmaker

Another standout for the Pirates is Richie Reagan, whom Honey Russel has tabbed as the playmaker of the outfit. He has also proven himself adept as a scorer, being second to Dukes last year with 319 points.

Rounding out the starting five will be John Ligos, Mickey Hannon, and Ray Belliveau. Ligos was a sensation in his freshman year but did not play last year due to a knee injury. Hannon and Belliveau have both proven themselves capable scorers when the occasion arises.

Siena Upset By Evergreen Five

In a game played early in December, Loyola scored its most stunning cage victory to date by upsetting the Siena College five at Albany, 49-48. The triumph was the Hound's first of the regular season.

It was the marvelous shooting of Joel Hittleman and Charley McCullough's rebounding that were instrumental in producing the upset. The former hit 8 for 12 shots from the floor to break the backs of the Siena Indians.

Hittleman's set shot in the last minute of the game was the goal that proved to be the deciding tally as the home team failed to score after they got the ball.

Running With The Hounds

Attendance Lags At Hound Cage Contests

by Tony Spartana, Sports Editor

It seems to be the fate of everyone who inherits this column, at some time or another during his tenure, to harp on a little thing called "school spirit," or possibly even more correct, the lack of same.

But this time we intend to be a little different, and instead of preaching a sermon, as has been done so many times in the past, we are going to try to analyze the situation. Also, to keep it seasonal, we shall restrict our discussion to basketball.

To state the facts, pure and simple, it is becoming increasingly evident that Baltimore is not a "basketball town." She never has supported big time college basketball, probably will not in the foreseeable future, and only supports pro basketball when she has a first place club.

What does all this have to do with (pardon the expression) "school spirit?" It explains why people who are not in some way connected with Loyola College do not attend the basketball games.

As for the others, those who have an, and we use the word advisedly, "interest" in "the College." Well, out of a student body of over 500, there have not been 200 students at a home game so far this year, and the attendance has yet to reach 600 for any of these games. And, mind you, this is not something new but has been the case for years.

The reasons underlying this situation range from "Well, Loyola is a day school, and there just is not the same interest shown by the student body as there would be in a boarding school" to "I'd rather go to a party." And so that is how it stands.

Efforts to bring in top flight competition to play the Hounds and efforts to produce respectable cage outfits have met with virtually no response from either the students or so-called "friends of Loyola." Tonight when Seton Hall pays Loyola a visit, we are willing to wager that there will not be 1000 people to watch them, and yet the New Jersey quintet has been ranked among the first ten teams in the nation.

Greyhounds Defeat Washington College Quintet By 74-63

With their best offensive effort to date, the Loyola five snapped a two game losing streak in trouncing Washington College last Saturday by a 74-63 score. It was the Greyhound's second Mason-Dixon Conference win against no setbacks.

Behind 38-35 at halftime, the victors came back in the second half to play inspired ball, and completely outclass the host quintet. Nap Doherty, Ed Kowalewski, and Charley McCullough were chiefly responsible as the Hounds surged to the front to stay with 1:20 remaining in the third quarter, 52-51.

The first half was a nip-and-tuck battle with the initial quarter ending 15-14, the Shoremen leading. The losers, led by Nick Scallion's 13 points, then opened up a 32-24 lead with 2:50 remaining in the half, but Loyola drew back to within 3 points as the buzzer sounded ending the period.

But in the following half, the Green and Gray squad was not to be denied as they displayed some of their best team play of the season. However, the game was unusually rough as the officials called 50 personal fouls during the game, Kowalewski, Chadwick, Doherty, Schneider, and McCullough all fouling out, as did Sullivan of the Shore quintet.

Doherty was high for the Greyhounds with a 20 point effort, followed closely by Joel Hittleman and Charley McCullough with 17 and 15 markers respectively. Kowalewski was the other Hound to hit double figures as he dropped in 6 field goals for 12 points. Scallion led the losers with 28 markers.
